Step One

"We admitted we were powerless over alcohol—that our lives had become unmanageable."

Starting the New Year with Step One is good because Step One is the essential foundation of solid sobriety. I learned that the hard way, and now have the warning on page 30 of the Big Book burned into my brain:

"We learned that we had to concede to our innermost selves that we were alcoholics. This is the first step in recovery."

That's called hitting bottom. There are two ways to get Step One.

The easier softer way is to "stick with the winners" and work at sobriety by regular meeting attendance, listening to learn and doing the steps with a sponsor.

"Don't quit before the miracle" is among our sayings. Actually, two miracles are 100 percent "misery-back" guaranteed. One is that the time comes when we no longer crave alcohol or any other substance. The other is the joy we find in sobriety—joy beyond any we ever hoped for outside recovery. "It works if you work it."

Then there is the hard way, the rough road taken by us who were not ready to "concede to our innermost selves" that we'd never be normal drinkers.

At age 36 I was ready to admit I was drinking too much and so I attended my first A.A. meeting. As we joined hands and recited the Lord's Prayer, I thought: "I'm home."

But I didn't really work the program. I didn't make 90 meetings in 90 days. I got a sponsor, but never called him. As I sat in meetings, I thought of my "friends" (fellow bar flies) still having fun." My meeting attendance dwindled over several years and then stopped. Inevitably, I picked up a drink in a social situation. I didn't want to seem "odd." I congratulated myself on nursing that one drink. Within weeks, I was bingeing.

Then I made my last stand--the "Mission Impossible" of controlled drinking. That often worked in public, but I binged in private. I became mentally exhausted by the effort at control and sank deeper into a dark pit of depression. I became obsessed with the idea of suicide.

Yet one thing had never left me since that inspiring first meeting 14 years earlier. I still believed that A.A. could restore me to sanity if I was willing. Now I was willing. I had finally hit bottom and had the gift of desperation. I dragged myself into a meeting of the Triangle Group on Aug. 2, 1985, ready to listen and learn, do 90 meetings in 90 days, and work the steps with a sponsor. Twelfth Step work added a new dimension of joy.

Through the years, I have seen many come into the rooms. Those who stay radiate something special. Many who've slipped tearfully say they can't get the good feeling back. They, at least, still have a chance. Many never get back. Some die. I give thanks daily that I've been one of the lucky ones.

Tradition One:

"Our common welfare should come first; common welfare depends on AA unity."

When we arrive at AA we have a perception of life based upon the various societies we come from. Our Big Book describes us on pages 61 and 62 as "selfish & Self centered", thus our views are usually skewed to "How will that benefit me"?

As we have discussions on any changes in our group, intergroup, districts, areas, or general service office agendas, our first thought might be "how much is that going to cost me, not "how will this better serve those who are yet to come."

My first experience with a group vote not going my way was the "Retaliation Reaction". My sponsor asked if I had heard the term "King-Baby". I had, and I didn't like what he was implying. He asked if I knew what unity was. Of course! I replied. When everyone agrees on an idea. NO! When everyone agrees to "support" an idea as seen by the majority (harmony).

As with most ideas I disagreed with I later saw how the majority benefited.

By faith and by works we have been able to build upon the lessons of incredible experiences. They live today in the Twelve Traditions of AA, which, God willing, shall sustain us in unity for so long as he may need us.

'About Those A.A. Group Problems'

Just past the middle of "The A.A. Group" pamphlet, at the end of a section titled "Principles Before Personalities," the A.A. member or group can find a few short paragraphs subtitled About Those A.A. Group Problems. That section, on pages 30 and 31, begins with what more than one A.A. member has found—at first glance—to be a somewhat strange statement. "Group problems are often evidence of a healthy, desirable diversity of opinion among the group members."

So group problems can be healthy and desirable? How can that be? That section goes on to share that "They give us a chance, in the words of Step Twelve, to 'practice these principles in all our affairs.'"

We also read that "Group problems may include such common A.A. questions as: What should the group do about members who return to drinking? How can we boost lagging attendance at meetings? How can we get more people to help with group chores? What can we do about one member's anonymity break, or another's attempts to attract the romantic interest of newcomers? How can we get out from under those old-timers who insist they know what's best for the group? And how can we get more of the old-timers to share their experience in resolving group dilemmas?" Almost every group problem can be solved through the process of an informed group conscience, A.A. principles, and our Twelve Traditions. Some groups find that their G.S.R. or D.C.M. can be helpful. For all involved, a good sense of humor, cooling-off periods, patience, courtesy, willingness to listen and to wait—plus a sense of fairness and trust in a 'Power greater than ourselves'—have been found far more effective than legalistic arguments or personal accusations."

HAPPY 25TH DISTRICT 15

As we celebrate 25 years of Love and Service, let's look at what Bill W. wrote in the February 1961 Grapevine.

The Shape of Things to Come!

AA's first quarter century is now history. Our next twenty five years lie in prospect before us. How, then, can we make the most of this new grant of time?

Perhaps our very first realization should be that we can't stand still. Now that our basic principles seem established, now that our functioning is fairly effective and widespread, it would be temptingly easy to settle down as merely one more useful agency on the world scene. We could conclude that "AA is fine, just the way it is."

Yet how many of us, for example, would presume to declare, "Well, I'm sober and I'm happy." "What more can I want, or do? I'm fine the way I am." We know that the price of such self-satisfaction is an inevitable backslide punctuated at some point by a very rude awakening. We have to grow or else deteriorate. For us, the "status quo" can only be for today, never for tomorrow. Change we must; we cannot stand still.

Just how, then, can AA go on changing for the better? Does this mean that we are to tinker with our basic principles? Should we try to amend our Twelve Steps and Twelve Traditions? Here the answer would seem to be "no." Those twenty-four principles have first liberated us, have then held us in unity, and have enabled us to function and to grow as AA members, and as a whole. Of course perfect truth is surely something better understood by God than by any of us. Nevertheless we have come to believe that AA's recovery Steps and Traditions do represent the approximate truths which we need for our particular purpose. The more we practice them, the more we like them. So there is little doubt that AA principles continue to be advocated in the form they stand now.

So then, if our basics are so firmly fixed as all this, what is there left to change or to improve? The answer will immediately occur to us. While we need not alter our truths, we can surely improve their application to ourselves, to AA as a whole, and to our relation with the world around us. We can constantly step up "the practice of these principles in all our affairs."

As we now enter upon the next great phase of AA's life, let us therefore re-dedicate ourselves to an ever greater responsibility for our general welfare. Let us continue to take our inventory as a fellowship, searching out our flaws and confessing them freely. Let us devote ourselves to the repair of all faulty relations that may exist, whether within or without.

And above all, let us remember that great legion who still suffer from alcoholism and who are still without hope. Let us at any cost or sacrifice, so improve our communication with all these that they may find what we have found—a new life of freedom under God.

Bill W.

AA Grapevine February 1961

STILLNESS is a word that carries great meaning when you know it to the depth of what is offered. It is beyond our concepts of 'just being quiet'. STILLNESS is like tasting Belgium chocolate for the first time... or seeing the absolute beauty in a dew drop.... there's nothing to say... just smiling eyes filled with wonder.

Marlise Karlin

I am convinced that there is something wrong with my thinking; I have always been a little bit off. As a child I remember feeling like I could never say the right thing at the right time, like I always made the wrong decision. I felt like there was something about life that people just seemed to understand, that I did not. I am not sure how much of that is actually true, but that certainly does not discredit the fact that I felt the way I did. Perception is i n d e e d 'reality'.

As much as I try to fight it, I depend on meetings. I need them. Of course there are times when I wish I didn't have to go to meetings. Of course there are times when I wish I could be like everyone else, when I could have a drink without the consequences that are certain to come upon me. The fact is... I CAN NOT. God made me this way. He made me with this spiritual malady inside of me, and I thank Him for that. God gave me this adversity so that I can gain strength from it. Here is the point: Without meetings, I slowly but indefinitely turn into a discontented, irritable raging monster. I snap at people. I hold grudges over things that really don't matter. Meetings are my getaway. It gives me an hour to shut off my restless racing mind. I can listen to someone else and relate, and it makes me feel like I am not alone. I am reminded that there are people all over the world that feel the way that I feel.

Meetings are irreplaceable. Without them, I am not in touch with God because God uses people like you to speak to this alcoholic..... God Bless

A. A. HISTORY CORNER

Bill's spiritual awakening that began the process of Bill recognizing the importance of carrying the message of sobriety to other drunks in order to stay sober himself.

Ebby Thatcher, an old drinking buddy, now sober, had visited Bill in his kitchen in November 1934, had explained the Oxford Group teachings to Bill, who was drinking at the time, and planted the seed that would grow into Alcoholics Anonymous. What Ebby conveyed to Bill is the basis of what we know today as the 12 Steps of Alcoholics Anonymous. "I learned that I had to admit I was licked; I learned that I ought to take stock of myself and confess my defects to another person in confidence; I learned that I needed to make restitution for the harm I had done others. I was told I ought to practice the kind of giving that has no price tag on it, the giving of myself to somebody. Now, I know you are going to gag on this, they taught me to pray to whatever God I thought there was for the power to carry out these simple precepts. And if I did not believe there was any God, then I had better try the experiment of praying to whatever God there might be. And you know, Bill, it's a queer thing, but even before I had done all this, just as soon as I decided that I would try with an open mind, it seemed to me that my drinking problem was lifted right out of me." - AA Comes of Age, 58-59.

And now, a few weeks later, Bill found himself once again in the hospital for alcoholism, totally inebriated and helpless, suffering through the barbiturate and belladonna "purge and puke" treatment of that day for drying out a drunk. He had been in bed a short while he heard the doctor talking to Lois by the door, saying that if her husband came out of this episode and did drink again, he did not honestly believe he would live six months. When he heard these words he was immediately carried back to his talk with his friend Ebby and could not dismiss the idea that although Ebby might be batty with religion, he was sober and he was happy. He kept turning this over in his mind, in a mild delirium, and came to a vague conclusion that maybe Ebby did have something in a man's helping others in order to get away from his own obsessions and problems. On his second day at Towns, Ebby, still sober, visited Bill, once again laying out what he had previously told Bill, then left. Struggling with his helplessness and his ego, sinking into a deep depression of incomprehensible demoralization, Bill finally surrendered the evening of the 14th, and the Spiritual Experience occurred, freeing not only Bill from the grips of Alcoholism, but countless millions of us down through the years to the present day. The following day, Ebby brought Bill a copy of William James' Varieties of Religious Experience and Bill devoured it, discovering the answer to, and significance of, his Spiritual Experience. Complete hopelessness, deflation at depth, and total surrender to a Power that none of us understand, and then it happens! The result of One Alcoholic talking to Another! The carrying of the 12th Step Message! That without each other, without continued surrender to our Higher Power, without continued practice of the Steps of Alcoholics Anonymous. we are doomed to insanity, incarceration and death! There is no reprieve through our own will power!
