Step Twelve:

"Having had a Spiritual Awakening As The Result of These Steps, We Tried To Carry This Message To Alcoholics and to Practice These Principles In All Our Affairs"

A spiritual awakening is real because our lives are changed as a result. We can see and feel it. Many of us feel more alive, loving, open, and better able to join fully in life. We come to know the natural joy of things experienced just as they are. That power, whether it is our own best and highest nature or a force beyond ourselves, becomes ours to tap into whenever we are open to it. It guides our actions and provides inspiration for our continued growth. This comes about gradually and slowly as we work the Steps. We grow more and more uncomfortable acting out on our character defects, and begin to feel more at ease practicing spiritual principles.

The founding moment of AA was Bill W. sharing his story with Dr. Bob. We can only keep what we have by giving it away, because we reinforce our recovery by sharing it with others. The message of a spiritual awakening perhaps is that we are not alone, we can stay sober, we can recover, and there is hope. We simply present the message of our own story as positively as we Staying sober in everyday life is hard enough at times, but throw in a couple cups of holidays, a few tablespoons full of parties, a heaping teaspoon of stress, a dash of "just one won't hurt," and you have the perfect recipe for relapse this Holiday Season.

Staying Sober Through the Holidays

Alcohol is pretty synonymous with holiday partying, but for those trying to maintain sobriety it can be an especially difficult time, many people find these times especially trying even if they are not in recovery.

Many alcoholics in recovery have relapsed around holidays. There have been countless individuals with over 5 years sober time who have relapsed around holidays for reasons too numerous to mention here, but it happens because they either began to slack on their daily spiritual maintenance, or ignored it altogether.

However, two of the most self sabotaging thoughts that attack sobriety are: "Just one won't hurt," and "I owe myself this one." I owe myself this one is in regard to a celebration of being sober for a period of time. Some may convince themselves it is okay to celebrate after one day sober, others with a year, and some with decades of sobriety. And in recovery we all know, "one is too many, and a thousand is never enough," this is the reason why just one won't hurt is also the biggest lie alcoholics can, and remain available to help when we are asked. We see which Step we are meant to practice in each event of life. We are more aware of our old unworkable thought-habits that leap to mind when we react to life events and that dictate our actions. Now we may pause, ask for help, and then respond in a workable way that contributes to the serenity and peace of mind of all concerned. The positive principles of honesty, selflessness, courage, and compassion arise naturally as we enjoy that profound alteration in [our] reaction to life that the Big Book authors speak of. (567: 4) The spiritual benefits of our new worthy behaviors are real and will materialize if we work for them. We deeply wish for others as well as for ourselves that we all may be happy, joyous and free. Gratitude becomes the underlying force in all that we do. We let our lives speak.

Tradition Twelve:

"Anonymity is the spiritual foundation of all our traditions, ever reminding us to place principles before personalities".

Many years ago I was told that whenever I'm sharing, I must always be Aware of the miniskirt principle. When I asked what that was, I was told that it had to be "short enough to attract interest and long enough to cover the bare essentials". So, in writing this article on the principles of anonymity, I shall attempt to follow this principle.

Many times I have heard a member of our fellowship say that they will break their anonymity but will respect another's. However, the next time that the same member wishes to refer to a deceased member, I will hear them say, "oh I can break their anonymity, as they are no longer with us". I do not believe that any AA member who has died loses his right to anonymity just because he has passed away, unless the family of that deceased member has consented to such a release.

When I first arrived in AA, there came with me fear. Not only fear of the unknown, but fear that someone might find out that I have come through the doors of AA. How demoralizing and devastating my life had become. I wanted no one to know that I was doing something about my unmanageable life. Although I did not believe in a Higher Power at the time, I now thank the God of my understanding for the principle of anonymity.

It was only after this that I learned from my sponsor that if I truly wanted to recover, I not only had to practice the Twelve Steps, but I had to bring the Traditions into my life as well. It was only then that I learned about the exact level at which we must maintain personal anonymity: The level of press, radio and films." This is not anonymity from my fellow members, nor is it keeping my anonymity if I feel that another person may be able to take advantage of the AA program. Who could have expressed it better than our co-founder Dr. Bob? He stated: Since our tradition on anonymity designates the exact level where the line should be held, it must be obvious to everyone who can read and understand the English language that to maintain anonymity at any other level is definitely a violation of this tradition. The AA who hides his identity from his fellow AA by using a given name violates the Tradition just as much as the AA who permits his name to appear in the press in connection with matters pertaining to AA. The former is maintaining his anonymity above the level of press, radio, and films, and the latter is maintaining his anonymity below the level of press, radio, and films—whereas the Tradition states that we should maintain our anonymity at the level of press, radio and films"

Therefore, for me, the principle enunciated by anonymity can ever perpetrate against themselves. You don't need to throw your sobriety away to have a good time during the holiday season. Getting involved with other people in recovery, finding meaningful activities to participate in, service work, step work, and maintaining emotional sobriety through prayer and meditation allow you to treat the spiritual malady or void in the soul.

The Holiday season is a perfect way to get to know new people in recovery, many groups will have parties of their own that you can be a part of, do service work at, and provide a chance to meet new people. So treat the Holidays as any other day of the year; trust God clean house and help others and you too will stay sober!

Is humility. True humility for me is remembering not to think less of myself but to think of myself less.

In addition to protecting the anonymity of my fellow member, I must also remember my relationship to AA as a whole. I must constantly be vigilant to the principle that I am never so sober that I cannot get drunk, but I now know for a fact that I can become so drunk that I may never become sober. If this should ever happen, then my actions in the outside world along with my broadcasting of my membership in AA could affect the ability of someone else wanting to enter into this Fellowship. Sobriety is not guaranteed.

In the closing paragraphs of the chapter on Tradition Twelve in the "Twelve and Twelve," Bill W. wrote the following:

"These experiences taught us that anonymity is real humility at work. It is an all-pervading spiritual quality which today keynotes AA life everywhere. Moved by the spirit of anonymity, we try to give up our natural desires for personal distinction as AA members both among fellow alcoholics and before the general public. As we lay aside these very human aspirations, we believe that each of us takes part in the weaving of a protective mantle which covers our whole Society and under which we may grow and work in unity. We are sure that humility, expressed by anonymity, is the greatest safeguard that Alcoholics Anonymous can ever have."

Where better can humility be displayed than in doing service? This can be done inside and outside AA, by doing something for another human being and not expecting anything in return. I did not come into AA knowing anything about this concept, I, like so many others, had to be taught by the long-timers that it was better to give than to receive.

The biggest benefit that I get for doing something inside AA is serenity-and the ability to stay sober one day at a time. I also obtain inside growth. I am sometimes asked how this can be transferred to the outside world. One way I have found is to give a care package to a needy family at Christmas (or any other time of the year) anonymously. There is no warmer feeling on the inside than knowing that you helped another human being in a time of need-and the only ones who know are you and your Higher Power.

Throughout my years in AA, many members have given me their time and wisdom. Some of their wisdom was not always so well-received by me, but it often takes time for me to digest the truth. Not one of these people wanted any pay or reward for what they so freely gave. I must therefore remember that it's my responsibility to pay it forward. In doing so, the rewards that I receive are ten-fold.

If everyone practiced these AA principle in their daily affairs, what a wonderful world it would be.

MY FIRST CHRISTMAS SEASON

The 1975 Christmas season was in the air and I was several months sober; my phone was ringing off the hook; a host of new AA friends were keeping my spirits alive and happy. I was going to meetings all around Los Angeles as often as possible. My spare time was spent hanging around the clubhouse at 26th & Broadway, in Santa Monica. There I felt safe because the subject was generally focused on one subject: sobriety. Although my family was back in Indiana, I was seldom lonely and I seemed to be winning the battle against that first drink. The goose seemed to be hanging high! (A Bill Wilson saying)

However, I hadn't experienced a sober holiday season for over twenty-five years and there existed that hidden terror of the next drink, but I seemed to be was successful at pushing it away, like the boy in the Big Book who was whistling in the dark to keep up his spirits. The closer Christmas came, the harder I pushed away those terrifying thoughts. But, like a muscle, the harder I shoved it, the stronger it got. The terror grew! Maybe I could get past Christmas, but what about New Years Eve! I remembered the time I was so drunk in preparation that I passed out and missed the entire celebration. Don't think about it! Don't think about it! If I think it -- I'll drink it! The fear grew paramount. Was I was headed for deep chicken fat trouble? I had a sponsor who told me to just work the Steps off-the-wall the way I felt best and the obsession would finally subside (not a very good idea!). I now realize that I was staying sober by surviving on the fellowship; I have since learned a cliché: "Survival on the fellowship is untreated alcoholism!" Although numerous meetings and the AA fellowship did, albeit barely, keep me dry throughout that terrifying season, the time soon came when I marched into a Hollywood bar, after a parade, and almost ordered a gin & tonic. Thank God I didn't! The next week, a new sponsor led me through the Twelve Step process and within a few months the obsession to drink was lifted and has never returned.

If I were asked to offer personal-experience-advice for someone's first sober Christmas holiday season, it would be to find a sponsor who can help them through the 12-Step process, el pronto. The fellowship is good, but a vital spiritual experience is the ultimate solution.
